TO DRILL FOR OIL YELLOW FEVER AT LAREDO

The Heywood Oil Company Will Begin Operations In Anderson County.

Mr. J. E. Anderson, vice-president of the Heywood Oil Company has been in Anderson county for several days, inspecting the oil fields, and after making a careful survey of the territory included in the asphalt beds ten miles east of the city and west to the line of the I. & G. N. railroad, he has completed his report to his company, and if the company ratifies his report, two drills will be started on the G. S. Rose tract of land within the next ninety days.

Another company is also in the field, and it now looks as if the oil fields of Anderson county are to be developed.

That we have oil here is conceded by every expert that has looked over the field.

GEORGE GOULD AT KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 20.—George J. Gould, with his two sons, Kingdon and Jay, in company with a number of Missouri Pacific officials, spent several hours in Kansas City today. Saloonists Touched.

Georgetown, Texas, Sept. 19.—During the session of county court the past week, fines to the amount of about $2500 were assessed by the court, principally against saloon men of Williamson county for failure to procure license. The persons accused in every instance entered pleas of guilty and the fines were assessed $450 each for whiskey license, and $100 for beer license. As a rule the violations were through carelessness or oversight and in some cases the parties were foreigners and not well informed as to the requirements of the law.

There are still a number of cases of the same character on the docket yet to be disposed of.

REPORT OF AWARD- ING COMMITTEE

On County Exhibits at the East Texas Fruit Show.

R. R. Claridge, Chairman Exhibit Committee East Texas Industrial Carnival.

Dear Sir: Your committee on exhibits and awards beg to report that they have carefully gone over each county exhibit, and find a most admirable collection of products, agricultural, horticultural and industrial, each vying in arrangement, decoration, design and elaborate display of the different productions.

The committee has attempted to make awards in strict conformity to the rules and regulations furnished them for their guidance, and in their final conclusions, which have been reached after a thorough and careful consideration of every phase of the merits of the different exhibits, have agreed upon this, our final conclusions:

1. We award first premium to Anderson county.

2. We award third premium to Rusk county.

3. We find from our notes and memoranda that the scores of Smith and Leon counties are a tie, and that in the judgment of your committee the second award be made to these two counties, share and share alike.

Smith county's exhibit of horticultural products is most excellent, and had there been a premium at our disposal for this product alone, we should have awarded it the prize.

Leon county's exhibit of fruits is not so elaborate, but the general character of the exhibit challenges our admiration. The artistic arrangement of the exhibit, along with the general character of the products of the farm, orchard, garden and factory, entitle it to special prominence, its score running very high, averaging with Smith county, and so we find.

In our opinion Grimes county deserves the distinction of having the most artistically decorated booth. The collection of products from this county was also creditable.

Walker county's exhibit was made up almost solely of second crop products, and demonstrated most conclusively that its soils are admirably adapted to diversified agriculture.

Every county exhibiting has some special claim upon our consideration, and demonstrate that the citizens are aroused to the importance of developing their latent resources.

The counties of Robertson, Gregg, Wood, Cherokee, Montgomery, Houston, Henderson and Trinity have exhibits creditable alike to these counties and their industrious citizens, who have so carefully arranged the collections.

The apple display from the several counties is a matter of surprise and general comment, abundantly sustaining the claim of horticulturists that apple culture has been too much neglected and that if properly developed is destined to make Texas a leading apple producing State of the Union.

Respectfully submitted,
SAM H. DIXON,
FRED W. MALLY,
JAS. L. SLAYDEN.
